University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh: Adapted Sports and Adapted Aquatics Program

The Sports Development Program allows individuals with all ability levels within the Fox Valley Region to participate in quality sports development programs. Instruction will be provided to individuals from birth through adults with an emphasis on adapted physical education. The program will benefit its participants through cognitive, physical, and social skill building. Individuals with disabilities are strongly encouraged to join. The goal of the program is to provide individuals of all ability levels an opportunity to improve as well as learn new sport skills. Classes are offered in the fall, spring, and summer.
